FREAK LOBSTER.

One Caught Near Portland and Is Covered With Yellow Spots.

One of the most remarkable "freak lobsters," brought to Portland for many months is that now in the lobster cars of Lewis McDonald at Portland, which was sent to Warden George A. Dow by William Walker, a Cliff Island lobsterman.

The lobster was caught on Johns Ledge, off Cliff Island, by Walker in nine fathoms of water, and is covered with yellow spots. The color of a lobster when taken from the water is usually green and while the "freak" brought to Portland by Walker is green, the yellow spots cover the back, the tail, claws and even the smellers of the lobster.

Lobster dealers in Portland say that they have never seen such a specimen and they do not attempt to explain the cause of the hundreds of yellow spots covering the lobster's shell covering.

ONLY FIVE CRAFT AT T WHARF.

TOTAL FISH RECEIPTS THIS MORNING WILL NOT EXCEED 50,000 POUNDS.

Only a small fleet, just five vessels, is at T wharf this morning and 50,000 pounds will just about cover the catch they have on board.

Two of the pollockers are in, one with 7000 pounds and the other with but 3500 weight, thus showing that the black chaps are still scarce.

Sch. Jorgina has 22,000 pounds of haddock and hake and schs. Harriett and Elva L. Spurling are hauling for smaller catches.

Haddock sold at $3.50 and large cod touched $6. Some large hake went at $1.75 and pollock were $1.50.

Season's Work of Porgy Steamer Arizona.

Capt. E. P. Gammage of South Bristol was in Portland Friday and he was very proud over the performance that his steamer, the Arizona has been doing the past season.

The Arizona is a porgy boat, though she is too large to be classed as a mere boat. But she has been making a record for herself and for her crew. She has been the high liner of the whole fleet of porgy catchers. During the season, the total catch amounted to 62,000 barrels of porgies for this steamer alone. And all this was done in only five months. From this immense quantity of fish, 10,000 barrels of oil were extracted, in addition to the fertilizer.

Capt. Gammage left the steamer at Tiverton to come home. The Arizona has now gone south with the floating fish factory Mills where the work of catching porgies for the Menhaden Fish Co. will be continued.

Catch of Fish Affected by Full Moon.

A recent report of the Scotch fishery board mentioned a curious habit which, according to fishermen, is associated with fish; the phases of the moon, it was asserted, have a very direct connection with the willingness of fish to be netted.

To test this theory statistics were obtained of the catch of herrings from 1860 to 1900, with the result that the biggest catches were found to have coincided with the new moon and the smallest with the full moon. The report suggested that a full moon enabled the nets to be seen much more easily than at the times of new moon or the crescent phase or that the tides which vary with the lunar phases, were possible factors in the matter.—Westminster Gazette.

SOUTHWESTER DELAYED FLEET.

BUT TWENTY-FIVE VESSELS WERE AT T WHARF THIS MORNING.

The stiff southwester of yesterday knocked out all chances of a big fleet of market fishermen being in at T wharf this morning. Evidently the fleet down in South Channel has been having bad weather also, for arrivals from there are more scarce than from along shore. All this will work to the advantage of the three off shores in from the Scatteri grounds with big fares, mostly codfish.

In all 25 crafts are in and of these three have fresh mackerel, three are pollockers, two are cod netters, two Georges drifters, three from Scatteri and two from the Channel and the rest market boats.

The shore boats generally have small fares, the result of one set on Saturday, the cod netters did fairly well, the Scatteri chaps hailed for from 80,000 to 105,000 pounds and the two channel crafts had fair catches. The catch of the pollockers showed an improvement over fares of last week, hails being from 11,000 to 19,000 pounds.

The most remunerative trip in, when the length of time gone is considered, was that of sch. Massasoit, whose hail was for 4600 large fresh mackerel. These fish sold in the neighborhood of 25 cents each, which means a stock of about $1100 and a share per man in neighborhood of $100 for one night's work. Sch. M. Madeleine also reported with 1600 large fresh mackerel and sch. Hawk had 550 in count.

The steam trawler Ripple was among the arrivals, with 38,000 pounds of fresh fish, mostly haddock.

The banner trip of the day and one whose stock will make a noise like between $2500 and $3000 is that of sch. Valerie, Capt. Wallace Bruce, from the Scatteri ground, hauling for 105,000 pounds of fresh fish, 90,000 pounds of which are cod. This is Capt. Bruce's first trip of the season and he evidently has not forgotten how to get 'em.

Two other fine fares are those of sch. Vanessa, Capt. William Firth, with 81,000 pounds, mostly cod and sch. Harmony, Capt. Christopher Gibbs, with 81,000 pounds, half cod, and 1500 weight of halibut besides. Haddock sold at $3 and $3.50 and large cod went at from $3.50 to $6, the off shores getting the former price. Hake brought from $1.15 to $2.50 and pollock $1.50 to $1.60.

The fares and prices in detail are. Sch. Valerie, 15,000 haddock, 90,000 cod.

MANY ARRIVALS, FISH IN VARIETY.

LAST OF THE SEASON'S SEINING FLEET AMONG THE NUMBER.

Arrivals here with fish since the last report have been many and the species brought in varied.

Three of the dory handliners, schs. Olga, Miranda and Titania, are home, with fares ranging from 120,000 to 140,000 pounds of salt cod, mostly late caught fish, the two former going to Gorton-Pew Fisheries Company and the latter to Sylvanus Smith & Company, Incorporated.

Sch. Waldo L. Stream, from a short fresh halibut trip, blew in on the wings of the gale yesterday afternoon bringing a good fare, 10,000 pounds of halibut, 20,000 pounds of fresh salt fish and 18,000 pounds of fresh. She got a fine advance over last sales on the halibut.

Several of the market boats which got a set Saturday, were unable to fish Sunday and ran in for harbor, few, if any, will take out here, but will try for another day's fishing and go to Boston.

Sch. Diana, the last of this season's seining fleet, is home from North Bay and the Cape Shore. She brings 30 barrels of salt mackerel, having lost a whole trip of 200 barrels in one school, off North Sydney by the bursting of her seine.

The gill netters did well again Saturday, landing 41,000 pounds of fresh fish, mostly pollock. Only one of them, the Margaret D. was out Sunday and she brought in 7000 pounds.

The mackerel netters were out Saturday night, the fleet being now small as many of them have shifted to other branches of fishing. Some of them did well, extra well, while the majority got small hauls. Their work in detail will be found in the mackerel story in another column.

The third fare of salt herring of the season came along Saturday night, sch. Arbutus arriving home from a quick trip to Bonne Bay, N. F., with 1100 barrels of salted stock.

The torchers did not have much of a chance, but brought over about 100 barrels for the two nights.

MACKEREL NETTERS TOOK CHANCE

Boats Which Defied Gale Made Large Hauls Saturday Night.

Some Crews Men Will Share $100 to $125 For Night's Work.

If it had not come on to blow suddenly Saturday night and blow hard, the chances are that the mackerel landings at this port and Rockport yesterday would have been among the best of the fall season. As it was, however, many of the netters were obliged to haul their nets after they had been set but a short time and got small catches, while the few who hung out and did not haul until later had large hauls.

The latter craft were lucky to get their nets back. As it was they had no time to pick them, but just hauled them on and let them go into the hold and on deck, nets and fish all together and picked the fish out after they got into port. It was a daring chance, but it made money for those who did it and as one of them said, "Money is what we are after."

Two of the crafts, sch. Massasoit at Boston and sch. Freedom at this port, will make extra large stock and the small crews stand to share from $100 to $125 to a man for one night's work. Capt. Peter Willett, of the Freedom, hailed for 4000 fish in count and the Massasoit's haul was for 4600 fish. Sales on these and the other trips in ranged from 22½ to 26 cents per fish.

The big catch of these two crafts only bears out the statement of Capt. Willett, made some time ago, that with any kind of weather, lots of good nights works would be recorded before Thanksgiving, if the fish did not get by Cape Cod before that time.

At Boston, beside the Massasoit, was sch. M. Madeleine, Capt. Roland Brewer, with 1600 large fresh mackerel and sch. Hawk, a new comer evidently, with 550 in count.

At this port yesterday, besides sch. Freedom were sch. Little Fannie, Capt. Charles Nelson, with 1900 large fresh mackerel; sch. Marguerite, 500; sch. Jessie P., 75 and sloop J. F. McMor-row with 240.

At Rockport Saturday the following mackerel landings were made: Sloop J. F. McMorrow, 300 fish; sloop Evelyn 65; sloop Minnie, 50 and sloop Lena May, 17. The following fares were reported at Rockport yesterday, sloop Minnie, 33 fish; sloop Pete, 80; sloop Evelyn, 45; sch. Dixie, 180 and sch. Gracie, 900 fish in count.

At Lanesville yesterday two boats landed 45 mackerel.

ROCKPORT NEWS.

More Mackerel.

The netters continue to bring in mackerel and those skippers who took out their nets and fitted for cod netting are regretting it very much. Saturday morning sloop J. F. McMor-row brought in 300, sloop Evelyn, Capt. Bartles 65, sloop Minnie, Capt. Eben Stevens 50, and sloop Lena May 17. Yesterday the Minnie had 33, Sampson and Bissett 80, Evelyn 45, Dixie 180, Gracie 900. They were all large fish and appear to be from the same body of mackerel that have been along the shore for several weeks.

Sloop Lena May, Capt. George H. Tarr, landed 1200 pounds of pollock yesterday, 1900 pounds Saturday and 1100 pounds Friday which together with the 3400 landed Thursday, makes a decent week's work for the little craft with her crew of three men.

Nov. 13.

Portland Fish Notes.

Over 50,000 pounds of mixed fish were brought in Friday by vessels of the local fleet. The fishermen report the dogfish and sharks as having about all left for warmer waters, but very few having been seen since the first of the week.

Schs. Annie M. Preble, J. S. Glover and Mary Weaver have been chartered to carry herring from Cape Porpoise to the eastward. Friday the first two named tried to get out of the harbor, but had to come back because of the rough weather.

Another New Lunenburg Schooner.

A large fishing schooner of the latest type was launched last week from the yard of Winslow McKay, Shelburne, N. S. She is 140 tons register, and the dimensions are 118 feet over all, 26 feet 4 inches beam, 10 feet, 6 inches hold. She is owned by Capt. David Bachman and others of Riverport, Lunenburg county.

Halibut Sale.

The fare of halibut of sch. Waldo L. Stream sold to the American Halibut Company at 13 1-2 cents per pound for white and 11 1-4 cents for gray, the highest prices for quite a while.

Pensacola Fish Notes.

The Pensacola correspondent of the Fishing Gazette says under date of November 5:

"Although 90 per cent. of the smacks belonging to the local fleet are fishing at the Campechy Banks, only six made port this week. Vessels arriving during the previous week reported fine weather, with indications of big catches. The wholesale firms, anticipating a big business, were sadly disappointed with the returns. Only 118,500 pounds of fish were received, of which 108,500 pounds were red snapper and the balance grouper. Five vessels came to E. E. Saunders & Co., and one to the Warren Fish Co. Fortune plays strange pranks, and the Warren Fish Co. may have the bulk of the catches, which has happened in the past.

Vessels of the Saunders fleet had all the grouper.

Receipts for the week were:

E. E. Saunders & Co.—Smack Kwaind, 20,000 lbs. red snapper; smack John M. Keen, 19,000 lbs. red snapper, 4000 lbs. grouper; smack Wallace McDonald, 8000 lbs. red snapper; smack Dorothy, 28,000 lbs. red snapper, 4000 lbs. grouper; smack Seacomet, 30,500 lbs. red snapper, 2000 lbs. grouper. Warren Fish Co.—Smack Halcyon, 3000 lbs. red snapper.

Depletion of the Lobster Grounds.

Much bitter experience has shown that no animal useful to man is so numerous that it may not be practically exterminated within a comparatively few years. The lobster grounds of the North Atlantic coast were the finest the world has ever known—a strip seven thousand miles long when measured along the curves of the shore. In Canada alone this field had been known to yield one hundred million lobsters in a single year. It was a vast natural preserve which, if properly dealt with, would have yielded a plentiful supply of lobsters for all time to come.

Man, however—greedy as usual—has killed the goose that laid the golden egg. In the year 1740, lobsters in the markets of Boston—large ones—cost three half-pence each; and this abundance continued for over a century. Today the price is 35 cents a pound; and, if one would buy a lobster for dinner, one must pay from 60 cents to $1.00 for it.

Portland Fish Notes.

There were several trips of fish brought into port Sunday to be sold Monday in the local market and a number of the local fishing fleet put into port to seek a harbor on account of the heavy rough weather outside. Sch. George L. Lubee came in with a trip of 11,000 pounds of mixed fish, while the Lochinvar brought in 7000. The schooner Hattie L. Trask and the Edward F. Black also come in from the fishing grounds with catches. Sch. Mary E. Sinnett had 3000 pounds of fresh fish.

A telephone message received yesterday from Capt. Richard Nunan of Cape Porpoise states that nothing was done there Saturday night in the herring line owing to the severe weather. The fish have not been showing up there very well the past two days, but it is thought as soon as the weather settles they will come back into the harbor as thick as before.

Nearly all of the local fleet came in Monday and had a total of 25,000 pounds of fresh fish.

PRICES SOARED AT T WHARF.

STEAM TRAWLER FOAM HAD ONLY FARE OF HADDOCK, COD AND HAKE.

All the haddock, cod and hake on the market at T wharf when the bell rang this morning, was contained in the 20,000 pound fare of the steam trawler Foam. With three of the pollock fleet she had the market all to herself, and in consequence South Channel haddock went at $5.50, while what few large cod she had sold at the fancy figure of $8 with market cod but a half a dollar below that quotation. The pollockers got $2.50 and $2.65 for their fish. Two of them, the Good Luck and Ralph Russell had good fares, the former 20,000 and the latter 17,000 pounds.

Sch. Thomas Brundage, with pollock and sch. Manhasett with a Channel fare, came in yesterday after our morning report, and sold.

Boston Arrivals.

The fares and prices in detail are: Steamer Foam, 16,000 haddock, 2000 cod, 2000 hake, 500 halibut.
Sch. Good Luck, 20,000 pollock.
Sch. Ralph Russell, 17,000 pollock.
Sch. Mettacommet, 4000 pollock.
Sch. Thomas Brundage, 7000 pollock.

Haddock, $5.50 per cwt.; large cod, $8; market cod, $7.50; pollock, $2.50 to $2.65.

Fulton Market Fish Notes.

Trade was not very brisk in the salt water fish market this week, says the Fishing Gazette, though prices in most cases were comparatively low. The summer run of fish is over and now small quantities of frozen stock are being taken out to meet the demands of the trade.

Codfish was low in price during the entire week, market fish bringing 3c to 4c and steak fish 6c to 7c. Hake brought 2c to 4c, pollock 3½c to 4c, and haddock 3c to 6c.

Flounders sold at 2c to 2½c. Fluke are becoming scarce, selling at 4c to 6c.

Halibut—Western whitefish was quoted at 11c to 12c, with the exception of Saturday, when in some cases 1c to 2c more per pound was obtained.

Wants Beam Trawlers To Land At North Sydney.

J. J. Forbes, Lloyd's agent at North Sydney, C. B., has taken up the matter of having the French steam beam trawlers make that port, instead of St. Pierre, their headquarters and will at once draw out a petition to be signed by business men and leading citizens to memorialize the Dominion government to grant the privilege to French trawlers and fishing craft of transshipping their catches there.

The provisioning of 10 trawlers each carrying from 30 to 40 of a crew, as well as some 10 or 12 sailing vessels, with crews of 10 men each, besides the transports would necessarily mean the outlay of a large amount of money, all of which would be spent with North Sydney merchants.

Herring Abundant at Bonne Bay, N. F.

Bonne Bay reports herring in abundance. The fishermen encouraged by last year's success have added to the gear, nets, boats and equipment generally and should the herring prove as plentiful as last year, the catch will be far in excess. Though much herrings have been taken the American purchasers have not yet arrived on the scene, and the fishermen are anxious. They will probably salt their catch, but it would be much more profitable to sell them to the Americans, as they come from the net—St. John's, N. F., Chronicle.
